Daily Proverb—"Small profits on large capital are, after all, great."

"Peaches" says she is tired of the elderly
Mr. Browning. With the public, that goes two ways.

You never can tell. Who ever thought the time would come when hard coal at $15.50 a ton would be purchased in preference to soft,
as an economy measure?

We haven't had a chance to read it, but we assume her home paper, in describing the bride, referred to Mrs. Teitzel as "vivacious and charmingly spirituelle."

In the light of his well-known aversion to spinach, it wouldn't surprise us a bit to learn that the Ohio State Journal man is behind the movement to switch canines to a vegetarian diet.

One stray item that we true aristocrats of the land are inclined not to get all worked up over is that $60,000,000 worth of motor cars were stolen last year.

As the days pass and the deficit grows, the City of Brotherly Love is more and more inclined to feel that the course of wisdom impels it to pass up expositions and confine such ability as it has in the entertainment line to the staging of prize-fights.

There's another serious objection to any movement looking to the legalizing of booze.
It would deliver us up once more to the practically unrestricted flow of post-prandial oratory.

As we understand it, the rum-running and boot-legging gangsters have declared a temporary peace and divided Chicago into districts, figuring that there are suckers enough up there for all.

The W. C. T. U. of Kokomo, Indiana, expresses the hope that Queen Marie "will deny that she indulges in an after-dinner cigarette, as has been reported." Possibly the majority of the people entertain a hope concerning the good women of Kokomo, but naturally feel that it would hardly be in accord with taste to express it.

Now, were we able to buy articles we want,
such as potatoes, at the prices of such articles as we do not seem to want, cotton by way of illustration, how it would boost the battle average of the joy of living, as we used to say when the great outdoor sport was in season!

Mr. Hopley for Congress.

While the Star for months past has given unusual publicity to the doings and utterances of the Democratic candidate for congress in this district—possibly due largely to the fact that he is a local resident in our national official life—this paper has said comparatively little concerning James R. Hopley, of Bucyrus, the Republican candidate for congress in the Eighth district. In any event, this disproportion in the volume of publicity given the two must not be taken as an indication of this paper's unfriendliness to Mr. Hopley's campaign, for we esteem him as a manly man of intelligence, of the utmost integrity, of high moral character—an upright, Christian gentleman we would be glad to see chosen to represent this district in the lower house of congress.

When all is said, there is not so much difference between the two old parties, as parties. For a time, it looked as though the League of Nations through the World court, its offspring, might afford an issue this campaign, but it has become evident that the World court has just about as many implacable foes in one party as in the other. This leaves the tariff question and the measures and policies associated with it to constitute about the only well-defined line between the two great political divisions. The Republican party believes in a protective tariff, a tariff which will protect the American laborer and producer from unfair foreign competition. The Democratic party believes in and advocates a tariff for revenue only, a tariff merely to meet the expenses of the operation of government. Upon this issue party lines are closely drawn. It must be apparent to all that there is an internationalist movement on for tariff revision.

Believing as we do in a protective tariff, if there is to be a revision, we want to see it made by the friends of the tariff idea, rather than those who would use it merely as a money-raiser for the purposes of government.
As we have said, party lines are drawn closely in voting on tariff legislation, and it is reasonable to assume that a Democratic congressman would not more break away from party lines than would a Democratic senator. This is one of the reasons why we prefer the candidacy of Mr. Willis to that of Mr. Pomeroy. It is one of the reasons, also, why we favor Mr. Hopley's candidacy for congress rather than that of Mr.
Fletcher.

Mr. Hopley proved a valued member of the Ohio state senate. His record there was a convincing one. Should he be chosen to represent the Eighth Ohio congressional district in congress, as we hope he may, we are satisfied that his record in the national legislative body will be wholly worthy.

Mars Has Clouds and Life.

Our planetary neighbor, Mars, supports vegetation. More than this, and absolutely certainly to the general conception in the past, Mars has sufficient atmosphere to sustain a coating of clouds. These two announcements have been made as a result of observations this week under particularly fortunate conditions.

As hoped for, the comparative proximity of our neighbor—only 12,500,000 miles away, a mere trifle as distances go in the heavens—the fact that the planet is almost overhead, and that in splendid position for observation, and the clear, cool atmosphere of Monday and Tuesday nights combined to give astronomers such opportunity to view Mars with up-to-date instruments as they have never had before.

Hundreds of astronomers in all parts of the country have been observing Mars for four or five nights past and the observation will continue for two or three nights more. Among them, and especially fortunate, were Professor Philip Fox, of Dearborn observatory at Northwestern university, and Professor Edwin B.
Frost at the University of Chicago's Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay, Wisconsin, and their associates. These astronomers observed that the snow cap at the Martian south pole had melted under the rays of the sun—it is summer in the southern hemisphere of Mars now and receded till it is only 240 miles across.

As a result of his observation of Tuesday night, Professor Fox made the announcement of the existence of life on the planet, probably vegetable life, he stated, acclimated to the radical changes of temperature which occur daily ranging from about thirty-three degrees above zero at noon to 150 degrees below at midnight.

Professor Fox made the further announcement that he had been studying Mars for several nights preceding and that on Monday night he obtained several good views of our neighbor despite the terrestrial clouds that blocked the sky most of the night. His observations then, he said, revealed that Mars has a coating of clouds, which contravenes the long-maintained theory that the atmosphere there is so thin that life can not exist on the planet.

"Modern instruments," Professor Fox said,
"are gradually solving the riddles of that heretofore mysterious planet. It will only be a short time now until we will know fairly well the conditions on Mars' surface. The darkening of the lines that appear to be canals strengthens that theory, for water does not reflect its light as earth does."

"Even the naked eye can see the wonderful light that Mars presents at the time of its approach to the earth."

Whether or not Mars is inhabited by thinking, reasoning beings like ourselves or in some form more or less advanced, we may never know. But the time when that planet's physical characteristics will be almost as well known to us as those of our own, so far as its great land and water divisions are concerned, can not reasonably be held to be far away.
We are steadily increasing the size and power of our instruments. Already veritable mam-moths in the way of telescopes are under construction, instruments which will make pigmies of those we have now, and with this increase in the power of our instruments and the perfecting of them as well, we may anticipate seeing Professor Fox's prediction, that we will soon know fairly well the condition of Mars' surface, fulfilled. If progress the like of that already made in this century is carried a decade or two further, much regarding Mars which is now a mystery will be as plain as the page of an open book.

Now "they say" Gertrude Ederle was doped before she started her channel swim, and doubtless should she try again and fail we would be told that she was "the mere shell of herself." What price glory, anyway?

Scientists tell us that but three per cent.
of the energy of gasoline is secured from its use in motor cars, and judging by the smoke some of them emit, we take it that that is from 100 to 200 per cent. high.

Talking about the age of Anne and the miscreant who hit Billy Patterson, if it takes three days to reach the production peak after the Sunday lay-off, when will it be regained after the inauguration of the five-day week?

A few days more and the majority of the candidates who are up for election will have brought home to them that there not only "were liars in those days" as we have been told by sacred history, but that their descendants are still "in our midst," as a good, old ecclesiastical friend of ours of days past was wont to say.

If the Hon. William Gibbs McAdoo is really adverse to election to the presidency, as he intimates, some good friend should get him off into a corner and whisper into his ear that any fear he may entertain of such a possibility is utterly without foundation.

"After reading some of our 'best sellers,'" remarked the fellow who lives next door on the way down town this morning, "I can't help recalling the late Mr. Shakespeare's old one:
'What fools these mortals be.'"

Lady Nancy Astor says "we have got to get the children to value spiritual things more than material or we will never have any peace on earth and unity among men and women."
We hope Nancy realizes the magnitude of the job she has cut out for us. And yet we hear references to the "labors of Hercules!"

Word comes from New Jersey that a New Brunswick young woman may be indicted because she knew about the Hall-Mills murder and maintained silence. We can not recall ever before having heard of a woman being threatened with indictment on this ground.

The Philadelphia Record says "Smith, of Illinois, has spent nothing in the campaign for election; he blew in his pile on the primary."
What possible excuse can a candidate have for betraying the hopes of "the boys" like that?
What's the use of a double election, anyway,
if candidates aren't going to dig up the mazzima each time?

IT'S GOING TO BE STRENUOUS ON UNCLE SAM.

Mystery Enshrouds Ductless Glands

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

One of the pleasures I have in writing these health articles is that it brings me pleasant letters from every part of the country. For instance, I just received an appreciative communication from a lady in Ohio. She thanks me for answering some health questions she had asked and then requests an article about the ductless glands.

A good many ask me about these glands, and some appear surprised that I can not be because more positive. The reason I can not be is because there remains much to learn about the ductless glands.

A good deal of the body manufactures a fluid, or semi-fluid, of some sort, and discharge it through ducts or tubes. It may be emptied into the circulation, or appear on the surface of the body or elsewhere. The point is, the secretion is permitted to escape from the gland, through some channel arranged for this purpose.

The tears glands and salivary or spit glands are good examples of this kind. The tears are produced in the glands and escape into the space under the eyelids, flow over the eyeballs, and are carried away through the tear ducts into the nose.

The salivary glands produce the saliva, which flows into the mouth, assist in preparing the food for swallowing, and the saliva taken into the body.

But the ductless glands are entirely different.
They generate various secretions, but these remain within the glands. There are no ducts or tubes through which fluid can be discharged. Because of the absence of the ducts of escape, they are called "ductless glands."

Associated with the kidneys we find the suprarenal glands or glands. In the neck is a small ductless gland called the thyroid. The prominence of the neck is known as "Adam's apple" and is flanked with a considerable amount of gland tissue. This is the thyroid gland.

Associated with the thyroid are some small ductless glands called the parathyroids. At the base of the brain, inside the skull, is another of these strange glands. This one is called the pituitary body or gland. In the brain is another little gland, known as the pineal gland.

There are other glands of the same type. The sex glands, the testicle and ovary, as well as the great spleen are really ductless glands.

Some of the most vital of the functions of the body are related to one or another of several of these glands.

In some mysterious way the sexual organs have an important relationship to the suprarenals and the thyroid.

The nervous system is hitched up with the thyroid and parathyroids. Growth of the body and its general well-being are associated with the pituitary body.

These glands may be overactive, or they may not operate. Strange symptoms result in consequence of the physical disturbance, whatever it is.

Whether you are a giant or a dwarf, whether your heart beats regularly and normally, whether you are sad or cheerful, whether you are lazy or full of energy—all these things and a hundred others depend on the activity of the ductless glands.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

M. S. Q.—What should a woman weigh who is forty-three years old, five feet six and one-half inches tall?

2—How can I reduce?

A—For her age and height she should weigh about 148 pounds.

2—Weight reduction is merely a matter of self-control as regards the diet. Exercise is essential.
For other particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

M. J. R. In November I was operated upon for appendicitis. How long before I can go horseback riding or swimming?

A—You should be able to enjoy such sports within six months.

R. A. W. Q—I have a craving for celery and raw potatoes. Are either of these injurious to my health?

A—Celery is very good for you, but I would suggest that you eat cooked potatoes.—Copyright, 1926

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in his column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office.

was an English economist interested in social problems and study of population. In 1798 he published a book, "Essay on the Principles of Population as It Affects the Future Improvement of Society." This book demonstrated the theory that in all time population has tended to outrun subsistence, leading to the decay of the nation. He enlarged this theory in 1803
to demonstrate the impossibility to evade poverty and suffering among the masses of the people if unrestricted increase in population
continued.

Q. How old is the motorcycle? W. G. M.
A. The earliest known attempt at a two-wheeled vehicle which would proceed under its own
power is said to have been made by W. W.
Austen, of Winton, Massachusetts, in 1668.
It was propelled by a coal-burning steam engine.
Other more or less similar affairs followed in 1824 and 1866. In 1897 a cycle propelled by a combustion engine using gasoline was exhibited at Madison Square garden in New York City. This has been called the first appearance of the motorcycle in the form in which it is known today.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Centuries ago continental traders paid for English goods with silver coins that look reminded at the same value. They were honest traders. The British liked to deal with them.
They came from the east and the English called them "easterlings." It wasn't long under the first two letters were dropped off and "easterling" became "e-telling." And ever since we have had "e-telling silver."
Names and the beginning of names may be forever forgotten, but the thing that grows out of them may last always. You who read this will be forgotten, but the principles which you labor to keep alive and strengthen will last.

In the old days messengers bearing bad tidings to the king had their heads cut off. A bit unjust to the messengers, you say. But the idea is not bad. We all know men who are automatic objectors. Their news is always bad news. Ask them what they think about a new idea and they say it can't be done.
Everything is either wrong or impossible.
They are like the messengers that bring you bad tidings. The world would get along very well—better in fact—if their heads were cut off.

"Get out and send me an optimist," Henry Ford once said to a man who was arguing with him, telling him something couldn't be done.
When you get a good job, produce—and produce what the boss wants. He doesn't want argument. He wants results. He doesn't want automatic objectors around him. He doesn't want messengers that bear him bad tidings.

This doesn't mean you shouldn't tell the boss frankly when you think he is making a mistake. But say what you have to say briefly and simply. Don't argue and don't whine.
If he says to go ahead, go ahead, if you have to burn down the house to do it.

The other day a woman was heard to admit she didn't read the newspapers. She ought to be ashamed of it. A man or woman who doesn't read the newspaper is either a child or a fool. It is not a sign of selfishness to ignore that nothing matters, or so selfish to care to know about life and people.
You may think you are so intellectual that you have outgrown or can outgrow the newspapers.
You aren't and you can't. Nobody is and nobody can. You can't outgrow newspapers any more than you can outgrow life.

Books and moving pictures can, and frequently do, misrepresent life. They make it more than it is, or less than it is. They distort it, paint it, beautify it, or make it ugly. The glory of the honest newspaper is that it sets forth life as it is—without distortion, expansion or suppression.

Fiction, in books or on the stage, may do harm. But do not fear facts. They are to be faced. And facing facts is the business of newspapers.

THE AUTUMN DREAM.

I have a dream of Housatonic winding
Through tangled coverts and by reedy shores,
And when I lift my eyes aloft of finding
Gray rocks depending and wood crested towers.

I have a dream of meadows in the valley
With braided purple, white and amber bloom,
Which under skies where chanting west winds rally

Seem like a mighty Oriental loom.

I have a dream of music never ceasing,
Waters that murmur, a melodious choir;
A day long harmonies, one not ceasing
When dusk in dusk the mountain sunset fire.

I have this lovely dream, and when I waken
I find the fabric of my dream unbroken

was an English economist interested in social problems and study of population. In 1798 he published a book, "Essay on the Principles of Population as It Affects the Future Improvement of Society." This book demonstrated the theory that in all time population has tended
to outrun subsistence, leading to the decay of the nation. He enlarged this theory in 1803
to demonstrate the impossibility to evade
poverty and suffering among the masses of the people if unrestricted increase in population
continued.

Q. How old is the motorcycle? W. G. M.
A. The earliest known attempt at a two-wheeled vehicle which would proceed under its own
power is said to have been made by W. W.
Austen, of Winton, Massachusetts, in 1668.
It was propelled by a coal-burning steam engine.
Other more or less similar affairs followed in 1824 and 1866. In 1897 a cycle propelled by a combustion engine using gasoline was exhibited at Madison Square garden in New York
City. This has been called the first appearance of the motorcycle in the form in which it is known today.

taken at Leghorn, Italy.

Q. Why is carbon monoxide such a deadly gas?
F.
A. Because it destroys the ability of the blood corpuscles to take up oxygen.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES ATTEND CALEDONIA RALLY

County Chairman Young Addresses Gathering on Campaign Issues

Nearly all Democratic candidates for county office were present at a party rally held Thursday night at the town hall in Caledonia, one of a series of meetings held throughout the county this week.

Hector S. Young, chairman of the Democratic county committee, presided and gave a short talk on the issues of the campaign. The various county candidates were introduced and a social session followed. The attendance was large in spite of inclement weather.

Tonight both Republicans and Democrats will hold county rallies. The Democratic meeting will take place at Watons while the Republicans are to stage a gathering in Caledonia. The Democrats will adhere to their policy of eliminating set speeches and substituting social features. James R. Hoppey of Bucyrus, candidate for congress, and Mrs. J. E. Stevenson of Kenon, a prominent member of the Hardin County Republican Women's organization, will address the crowd at Caledonia.

BLAMES ENGINEER FOR FATAL RAILROAD CRASH

Interstate Commerce Commission Reaches Decision and Makes Recommendations

Washington, Oct. 26.—The failure of Engineer Schmidt to observe and obey signal indications was responsible for a side collision between two passenger trains at the intersection of the tracks of the Central Railroad of New Jersey and Lehigh Valley at Bethlehem, Pa., on Sept. 27, which resulted in the death of eight persons and the injury of 40 others, the Interstate Commerce Commission announced today.

The commission recommended that certain changes be made in the present signal layout at that point which had the approval of the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission, which assisted in the commission's investigation of the accident.

FOREST LAWN COMMUNITY

CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Members of the Forest Lawn Community Club met Thursday afternoon at the school building with an unusually large attendance. During a brief business session it was decided to present a banner to the grades having the largest percentage of parents in attendance. Pupils of Grades Three and Four, taught by Mrs. Arlene Douce received the banner yesterday. It was also decided to purchase a new piano for the school orchestra. Edward Robson was chosen treasurer to succeed Floyd Welch who resigned.

During the program hour an entertaining talk was given by Congressman Fletcher and Mrs. Fletcher contributed a group of delightful vocal numbers accompanied at the piano by Mrs. L. E. Baker. The next meeting will be in one month. It was announced there would be four afternoon meetings this year.

UHLER-PHILLIPS CO. FORCE HOLDS PARTY

Halloween Party Conducted at White Maple Dancing Pavilion

One of the most enjoyable Halloween affairs of the season was the annual party given by employees of the Uhlér-Phillips Co., Thursday night at White Maple Pavilion. About 85 of the masqueraders met at the store, W. Center St., from where they were transported to the pavilion in two large trucks. Halloween decorations, including underground caves, spooky, ghosts, witches and other mystery characters carried out a weird decorative effect at the pavilion.

The grand march, led by Miss Margaret Snyder and Ray Sutton was followed by a program of games, music and readings. Reuben Severns gave "The Face on the Barroom Floor", and Miss Eva Barringer contributed a reading, "The Irish Red Carrier". Mrs. J. W. Leland entertained with several vocal numbers and the snake dance was led by Ray Sutton. Glenn Duffey contributed a reading and Reuben Severns and Glenn Duffey entertained with a Spanish dance. A program of contests was given by the employees of the Downtown Store.

A supper in keeping with Halloween was served and music for dancing which followed was played by Ruth's Syncopators. Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Uhlér and J. E. Phillips were guests.

Roberta Risks It

© MARGARET CAMERON LEWIS

He must have been out of his mind, because the gardener had just said that the Whangdoodle was dead—and he found the Whangdoodle dead, appropriately perched in a tree, still—oh, my!—still mourning for his lost mate.

When he had recovered somewhat from that spasm, Roberta, who looked rather frightened, asked: "How do you know who told you all this?"

"Some man came over from Jeffrey's manning and spread the glad tidings. He said they thought at first that the Whangdoodle had been killed on the hill. Then they missed Celia and heard the dogs on the hill, so the gardener came over and nabbed Nixon, up a tree. Now the theory is that he kidnapped Celia and turned her over to the dogs, but failed to make his own getaway on account of the dogs."

"But it isn't fair, Peter! Cliff had nothing to do with it!"

"Except snooping around in the woods at night. Even so, he won't have to prove himself innocent. They'll have to prove him guilty—and they can't do it."

"Father won't wait for proof. If he gets an idea that Cliff— She broke off, troubled.

"Suppose he does? What can he do to Nixon?"

"I don't know. But ever since I discovered that detective following me I've had a notion that somehow father prevented Cliff's meeting me that day. He may have some hold . . ."

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX

HAD either Roberta or Piggy suspected the straits in which Nixon found himself, what outcome who can say? But having no faintest inkling of the dangers encompassing the Whangdoodle, Piggy said blithely: "Get on your duds and let's go out."

"Out where?"

"Keene—to shop. This is the day when we must show ourselves."

"But—suppose Cliff does suspect? He did yesterday, and he might come over here now to make sure."

"We'll have to take a chance on that. Anyhow, I've got a scheme. I'm going to hunt up the sheriff now and see if my new license plate—hence come. When I get back, we'll boldly rally forth and show we have nothing to fear."

Before setting out, however, he held a consultation with Janet, and together they invaded the attic, where sundry locked trunks belonging to the owner of the house were stored. Piggy's keys came into requisition, and he left one of them with his lieutenant, who hurried aloft after he had descended. At Fitzwilliam House he obtained and affixed his New Hampshire license plates and loaded from the sheriff further details and theories about the abduction, returning then to the house for Roberta.

No sooner had they rolled away than Janet routed Celia from her bed and stationed her at the window, like Sister Anne, to watch for a cloud of dust, herself stripping the bed and restoring the room to its former unused aspect. She finished none too quickly, for before she had reached the foot of the stairs on her way to the kitchen, she heard Celia's frightened voice from the hall above.

"Janet! My father! He's coming, with two other men. Oh, what shall I do?"

"Up! We'll see the garret! Quick, now!" said Janet, snatching action to word. With astonishing nimbleness for one of her years, she propelled the limping girl up the narrow stairway, and sixty seconds later—some of which she used to smooth her sleek white hair and put her cuffs into place—she compulsively opened the door in response to repeated impatient knocking.

Events had not tended to make either Scott or Nixon, who accompanied him, patient. The former's temper, ruled at the Monday morning conference, where he received Dr. Brown's unqualified refusal to sell his plant and in retaliation gave formal notice of the cancellation of their contract, had not cleared when he was aroused from belated sleep to answer the telephone call from Nixon, who began to explain that during a fire, evidently of incendiary origin—

"Fire? What burned?" Scott interrupted.

"Nothing, except some wood piled behind the barn and soaked with gasoline. There's no damage. But—"

"Where were the dogs? Poisoned?"

"No, they were outside the fence," said Nixon, who knew whereof he spoke.

"They couldn't get outside, unless the

Is Your Cough Three Days Old?

A cough or cold that hangs on after the third day is a threat. Do something! Don't wait until the cold has run its course—from your head to your throat—from throat to chest, or bronchial tubes. Break up your cold before it settles in this "danger zone"; for inflammation spreads, and your bronchial tubes lead directly into your lungs!

Quickly and unfailingly Ayer's Cherry Pectoral goes straight to the seat of trouble. With the very first swallow you feel its comforting warmth. You feel its soothing, healing powers reaching deep down into your bronchial tubes. You feel it wire was cut, and then they'd get in again.

"Well, they didn't. Celia's gone."

"What? What's that?"

"Celia—has—has—disappeared. Went during the fire—probably with Roberta."

"Has she been there?"

"Nobody's seen her, but Celia's gone!" Scott swore, comprehensively before it occurred to him to inquire how Nixon happened to be on the spot. No explanation was forthcoming.

"I'll tell you about that later. You'd better come up."

"You bet I'll come up—straight!"

"I've noticed others, among every one to New York and Boston."

"You've what?"

"Noticed others to watch for Celia."

"You're a damn fool!" Scott liked publicity no better than did the elder Fitzwilliam, and his idea to put out pointers in general and rural peace officers in particular was slight. "Stay there until I come!"

He slung the received into the hook, jerking it down immediately to call Celia. Again they drove all night, even more rapidly than on the earlier occasion, a week before. The only reason they were not arrested for speeding was that nobody could overtake them, motorcycles being fewer then than now.

When Scott had heard the whole story, he raged. Everyone at Birchwood, with the single exception of the dogs, was under suspicion. The gardener, whom the dogs obeyed, was accused of putting them off the property with malice prepense and the patched Alice, Scott, twice false to her trust, had accompanied to Roberta's, while the motels had been hired; between them all they had arranged the fire in a preposterous attempt to pull wool over his eyes. And Nixon, caught in the act, captured and held by the trusty dogs, what had he to say for himself?

"Nixon had a good deal to say," he believed Roberta to be in the vicinity.

"You know she was, I thought at the time that you came here Saturday morning as a blind."

"I did not. I didn't know then where Roberta was and I don't now. I did know that she was bent upon seeing Celia, and I intended to prevent it—for reasons that nobody understands better than you."

"You'll understand 'em better yourself before I'm through with you, well?"

"Then came the story of the night walk, the whistle on the hill, and Nixon's suspicion of her scramble through the brush, guided by the encounter with the dogs. The cat had not been discovered and was his own secret. Subsequent proceedings had interested him vitally, but as participation in them had been impossible, he could offer only hearsay evidence up to the moment when the gardener had called off the besiegers, after which he had done everything in his power to insure the capture of the fugitives."

"But there is this," he added hastily, as Scott grunted and took breath for another diatribe. "Yesterday I rode around through several of these little towns on the chance of seeing Roberta somewhere, and over in a village called Fitzwilliam I saw a woman of about her height and build, in deep mourning."

"Did you speak to her?"

"No. But I went to the only store in the place—manufactured an errand—and asked about her. She said to be a Mrs. Smith from the West and recently widowed. She arrived there last Tuesday."

"Hah! And you didn't follow her?"

"Wait. She came in her own car—a five-passenger touring car. I learned afterward—with a chauffeur and a maid, both of whom claim to have worked for her for years. She has taken a furnished house. Now, I don't believe Roberta has enough money to do all that—but the woman did move like her."

"She's probably cleared out by this time. But since you've advertised this affair all over the place, we'll go and see. Come along."

Quicksands of Love

BY ADLE GARRISON

I WAS very well aware that Jack Leslie's fingers asked to close in snatching fashion upon my throat when I suddenly said that I would share the park bench with himself and Mary Harrison. That he guessed my purpose to remain seated there until he should be compelled to leave us, I was sure. Indeed, I meant him to surprise me, just as much as my antagonism as was possible without having Mary suspect what I was doing.

If Mary resented my action she camouflaged her feeling cleverly. There was apparent ingenueness also in her movement away from young Leslie instead of toward him, so that the seat left for me was between them. But, knowing Dicky's moody-changing young niece as I do, I was perfectly sure that the man knew exactly what she was doing, and that placing me in the middle of the seat was a touch of economy deliberately planned to tantalize the dancer.

Playing with Fire

But if I read the night club entertainer aright and besides my own observation of him, I had heard much of him from Dicky and Lillian—it was about as safe to coquette with him or tantalize him as it would be to tease a cobra. He was absolutely devoid of the ordinary warm human emotions and passions. I decided, and I had the gruesome fancy that if one of his veins should be cut, ice water instead of blood would flow from it. If he should set himself to any purpose, he would be relentless in its pursuit, with no scruples as to the methods he took to gain his object.

It took every bit of will-power I possessed to keep up the impersonal chatter which the situation demanded. Mary, after her first impudent rally to me, perversely remained silent, leaving the conversation entirely to the dancer and to me, and I was much relieved when, after the shortest interval that was courteous, Mr. Leslie rose and took a rather ceremonious leave of us. Only a keenly interested observer such as I was would have noticed that his clasp of Mary's hand was closer and longer than the one he gave me, and that he tried to make his eyes widely eloquent of regret in the last glance he gave her.

Neither of us spoke until he was out of sight. Long ago I learned the value of keeping quiet and waiting for an opportunity to make the first move, and Mary, I guessed, despite her apparent aplomb, was for the moment, too much struck for speech, not so much because I had found her in young Leslie's company as that I had discovered her smoking cigarettes, the thing which Philip Vertizon specifically had forbidden her doing.

She was too plucky, however, to betray her agitation, and when finally she broke into speech, it was with an impassive balance which was oddly fascinating to me in spite of my feeling that I ought not to condone it.

RADIO

Have You a Radio? If Not, Why Not?
Be Frank With Yourself in Answering This Question.

You possibly have considered a radio as being a luxury and out of your means. Have you ever stopped to figure what an evening's entertainment would cost you if you went to the shows and different places where you get the same entertainment that you get over a radio? Well, if you would, you would find it way beyond your means, in fact you would not even consider it.

Now let us show you about what we figure it would cost you for this same entertainment at your home, and the entire family enjoying it. We can do all that we have told you and more, too, for the small sum of twenty-five cents (25c) an evening. This takes in the payments on your radio and the upkeep for ten months.

Now try and compare this with anything you might consider in any line of radio and see if you can come close. The secret is the way we do it.

Come in and see us and talk this over. We can show you in black and white all that we have said in this advertisement.

We carry an assortment of radios that are sure to please, from the best that is made to the best reasonable priced set on the market. We have them in table models and consoles.

Do You Like My Hair?

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I keep it ever fluffy, ever-way, without ever a Marcel. I do it by applying Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. Then when I want my hair fluffy, I simply comb it backwards. When I want a lasting curl, I use curlers, combs or my fingers. In any style of hair dressing, my Wave and Sheen keeps my hair as I want it.

In Paris last summer I found that most women liked sleek hair, like men. But they used this same great formula to get it without grease.

There was never a hair dress ever created to delight you like my Wave and Sheen. A hair dress like mine demands it, to retain the wave, or curl or fluffiness which makes my hair seem so abundant.

But my Wave and Sheen is just as important in keeping hair in place. For men and women who desire sleek hair, my Wave and Sheen does it to perfection without grease. And for those who have permanent waves, my Wave and Sheen will keep them in shape.

This is the hair dress now used everywhere by men and women who want beautiful hair. You can fluff it or curl it or hold it smooth. You can use it to maintain permanent waves. But it serves every purpose in the best way known.

Get a bottle at any toilet counter today. Note the beauty, the luster and color, the endurance that it adds. You will say, as all the world is saying, that this is the greatest hair dress in existence. The price is 75 cents.

"Grow old along with me,
The best is yet to be."

WITH her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women of middle age say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who have learned through their own experience the merit of this dependable medicine are enthusiastic in recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A woman in Nebraska was troubled with headaches for fifteen years. She writes, "I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have felt my health steadily improving. Today, after taking your medicine for almost a year and a half, I believe I can say the headaches have left me for it is seven months since I had the last one. I am continuing the Vegetable Compound. I am feeling fine now."

This woman is the mother of six children with a large house to care for. Her name is Mrs. ADOLPH BRATKE, 4316 South 13th St., South Omaha, Nebraska.

MOUSER LAUDED ON HIS ARGUMENTS FOR COOPER

Marion Man's Address at Evanston Given Prominent Place in Accounts

Address given recently by former Common Pleas Judge Grant L. Mouser at Evanston and Price Hill.

Grant L. Mouser, former common pleas judge, recently gave an address at Evanston, Ill., and Price Hill, Ohio, in which he lauded the arguments of Myers Cooper, Republican candidate for governor, regarding the reports appearing in Cincinnati papers. The Marion man's address was given at the most prominent place in accounts of the two meetings, dedicated as being among the most important of the campaign in Cincinnati.

Special mention is made of the following comment by Judge Mouser on the gubernatorial contest:

"Governor Donahy's disclosure of responsibility for the vanishing of the $21,000,000 surplus which he inherited from the previous Republican administration. What has the governor to say of the earnings which State Treasurer Day gave him at the close of the recent year ending June 30, 1929, in his report to the governor? At that time Mr. Day pointed out that revenues were $5,000,000 less and expenditures were $1,000,000 more than for the previous fiscal year, and that the state actually had gone back $6,000,000 in its financing. He also pointed out that $2,000,000 of the state's disbursements for the year had been under the direct control of the governor.

"Mr. Day sounded a warning in plenty of time for Governor Donahy to act if he had been the watching of the treasury that he boasted to be. 'There is only one way to escape such conditions in the future, and that is for the voters to replace Governor Donahy with Myers Y. Cooper, a business man who will run the affairs of the state the same way that a successful business institution would be conducted.'

LOOK OF TRAINING CITED AS CRIMINALITY CAUSE

Rev. L. A. Sittler, Mansfield Reformatory Chaplain, Addresses Kivansians

It is only balanced mental development, due largely to lack of adequate moral and spiritual training in the home and schools, is one of the chief causes of the criminal tendency among young people, in the opinion of Rev. L. A. Sittler, chaplain of the State Reformatory at Mansfield, who spoke on "Causes of Crime" at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Marion Kivans Club at Hotel Harding, Thursday noon.

"Wrong thinking" provides the pathway to crime, and education, based solely on knowledge of a practical and technical nature gained from text books, is not sufficient to properly develop the character of boys and girls, Rev. Mr. Sittler asserted. In the schools there is probably too much emphasis placed upon "good" education without the moral phase entering into the training, he believes.

Education Solution
That education, even as it is now disseminated and as it has functioned in the past, is an effective bar to the spread of crime, was shown in facts and figures relating to the records of prisoners at the Mansfield Reformatory. The chaplain stated that of 2,200 young men at the reformatory, only six are college graduates and 25 high school graduates. Only 250 had gone beyond the eighth grade in school, a large majority of the 2,200 having no more than fourth or fifth grade training.

To make education, in both home and school, thoroughly effective as a crime prevention, Rev. Mr. Sittler said, parents and teachers must lay greater stress on moral and spiritual training with a view to establishing a wholesome line of thought in the minds of young people.

a hard winter. At a somewhat later date, this writer was attending to construction at Sixth and Delaware of the new six-story brick building in Evans City, long since demolished. This country has moved rapidly, since the days when Col. Conter built his cyclone cellar opposite the Coates Opera House.

WHILE astronomers study Mars with telescopes, radio listeners wait eagerly for some message from the planet, only a little more than 40,000,000 miles from this earth. They were disappointed, heard nothing.

A few million or a few hundred million miles in space makes as little difference as a few individual miles on this earth.

If there is a way of sending messages through the "imponderable ether" they probably would come from the nearest fixed star as easily as from the moon. Feeble rays used in our radio are probably not used in interplanetary and interstellar communications doubtless going on now among old planets. Ours is a baby planet, and the older planets are probably not bothering about it, just as we do not attempt to talk to a new-born baby. Nothing that old planets have to say would be understood by us, if they said it.

Does an unquestionable character and a reputation for honesty, integrity and ability mean anything to you? I have not sent out any vague or misleading letters. You will find my letter in yesterday's Star on Page 11.

NINTH CHAPTER—"FIGHTING WITH BUFFALO BILLS"

Chas. E. Smith, the efficient and able young County Recorder, is seeking his second term to that office. A young man of the highest qualifications, efficiency and ability, he has given to the people of Marion County a courteous and efficient administration during the past two years in the office of County Recorder.

Mr. Smith is asking the vote of the County Electorate upon his record made in the Recorder's office during the past two years. A clean-cut young man, well and favorably known throughout the entire county as one who endeavors to give to the people courteous treatment and efficient service.

Chas. E. Smith was born and reared in Marion County. A graduate of the Grade and High Schools of this city, a man of the highest qualifications, clean, honest and efficient in every manner, and should be returned to that office for his second term.

Mr. Smith was for four years in the drafting department of The Marion Steam Shovel Company, where he was considered a valuable employee of that company. He says that if elected for his second term to the office of County Recorder, those who have business at the Recorder's office will find the same courteous and efficient treatment as in the past.

The voters of Marion County will make no mistake by casting their vote on next Tuesday for this honorable young man. He has made a strenuous campaign throughout the county, has refrained from "mud slinging" and will receive a very large vote for the office which he seeks. He is affiliated with no political faction or organization, has made no promises, but has endeavored to meet all of the voters of Marion County, and he hopes that when you cast your vote on next Tuesday that you will not forget Chas. E. Smith, candidate for County Recorder for his second term.

President Coolidge, with the help of Andrew Mellon and others, has saved this country untold millions of dollars—and your own tax costs show it.

Cooper will do exactly the same thing for Ohio—as any other good, solid business man could if you could get him into the governor's job. You have the opportunity to get Cooper.

Myers Cooper was practically drafted into the primary campaign, although he never was a candidate before. He won in the primaries and should be elected because he knows how to handle business affairs as such. That's all we need in this great, prosperous state, and we need it a great deal more than we need a personal political machine, which Cooper doesn't understand and wouldn't have if he did. Cooper, as governor, can afford to be independent of politics because he is not a politician and has no political entanglements, whatsoever.

(This advertisement is paid for by contributions from citizens who sincerely believe Myers Cooper should be elected Governor of Ohio.)

FAMOUS LAWYER TO AID IN CASE OF DR. NORRIS

“Wild Bill” McLean, Noted Criminal Attorney Hired by Chippis’ Widow

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 28.—“Wild Bill” McLean will meet Dr. J. Frank Norris, famous fundamentalist pastor, in the case of murder in the slaying of Dr. Chippis, lumberman, on his own grounds when Norris comes to trial Nov. 1.

“Wild Bill” or Judge W. P. McLean, one of the most noted criminal attorneys in the southwest, has been hired by Mrs. Chippis, wife of the man shot to death in the office of the First Baptist Church, of which Norris is pastor, as a special prosecutor.

“Wild Bill” is reading the Bible, in the belief that Dr. Norris will cite it in support of his announced plea of self-defense. Dr. Norris already has preached several sermons dealing directly and indirectly with the events that occurred when Chippis came to his office to protest against statements the pastor had made against Mayor H. C. Mendonham and others of the lumberman’s friends.

Bible Figures
Fundamentalism is the creed which has made Dr. Norris known throughout the country, and which brought him note through the Searchlight, publication of his Church. Since fundamentalism bases its creed on verbatim and literal interpretation of the Bible, McLean is preparing to quote as much of the Bible, and if possible, more apropos portions than Dr. Norris.

Confidence in his biblical knowledge is fairly oozing from the famous criminal attorney.

“Of course,” he told an interviewer, “I will help try this case very much as I have tried other cases, except that I will be prosecuting where I usually

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery, with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

LOUIS E. MYERS
For Judge of the Court of Common Pleas

On Judicial Ticket.
Nominated at Primary.

It is urged by his friends that his knowledge of the law, good business judgment, keen mind and remarkable memory, fit him well for the judgeship; that his success as a trial lawyer and his standing in the front rank of the Marion bar is not the result of the favor of fortune, but is the result of industry and real ability. It is said that he has never received the case of a person because of their poverty or lack of influence. Possessing a very pleasing manner and being a good campaigner he is a very strong candidate, and political observers say that he will receive practically the entire vote of Latue and vicinity. The News urges citizens to vote the non-partisan judicial ballot at the November election as they will have an opportunity to elect an unusually able, conscientious and courageous lawyer in Mr. Myers as Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County.—Latue News.

But Dr. Norris brings religion into his trial. I will be prepared for it. I should like to see the Bible in evidence, in a Baptist college too, and I have been familiar with it since I was a boy. I think every citizen should see it. I will be prepared to meet the defense on its own ground.

McLean stated that the case would be tried strictly on the basis of the information given the first investigating grand jury of Tarrant county, which indicted Dr. Norris for murder.

Fearful Threats
Dr. Norris’ statement was that Chippis, whom he had not known previously to the slaying of the killing, had called him on the phone that day, and had told him that he was “coming over to settle with you for the things you said about my friends Mendonham and others.” Norris had made various utterances from the pulpit regarding the alleged disavowal of members of his church from Mendonham’s department store, because they refused to quit the church.

Chippis, Dr. Norris said, came to the church store, and after threatening several times to kill the pastor, reached for his hip and Norris shot him.

“I believed my life was in danger, so what else could I do?” Norris asked.

Various other witnesses testified to portions of Norris’ story at the grand jury proceedings. The testimony of Carl Glaze, 11, who was in the office of Norris on an errand, has not been made public, but the prosecution claims that

WORLD WAR VETERAN
BUSINESS MANAGER,
TIFFIN TRIBUNE
To the Voters of the 12th-31st District:
For three terms I have represented Seneca county in the House of Representatives. I am making my campaign for election to the Senate on my House record.
I have stood and shall continue to stand for a more economical expenditure of public funds and for greater returns from the money spent.
In order to lighten the tax load in Ohio it is necessary that the cost of state government must be reduced. Ohio must be put on the same business basis as the federal government.
I recognize agriculture as a basic industry and favor extending to the farmer all worthy means of relief.
I have helped to write into the statute law the Griswold debt limitation law, curbing the power of taxing districts to go into debt.
I advocated and assisted in securing the passage of the bill abolishing the state tax levies, which is saving the taxpayers of the 12th-31st district $300,000 per year.
I believe in less legislation and a more thorough consideration of that which changing conditions make necessary.
With these facts before the voters of my district I respectfully solicit the support of the men and women voters of both parties on Nov. 2.

Continuing Prosperity or Industrial Chaos?
For Which Does Ohio Stand?

Democratic Party pledged to destruction of the protective tariff and restoration of a “Competitive” tariff like the Underwood-Simmons bill which plunged Ohio and the Nation into two of its greatest depressions.

SELDOM in the history of the United States have our people been so universally prosperous as today. Not every person is employed, of course—there is no time, under any conditions, when everyone can be employed as desired; but compared with other days and other countries, the United States today the industrial and business paradise of the world. 1920 has produced a business record almost unprecedented. Expenditures for homes, for household conveniences, for all the things that go to make life in the United States far different from what it is anywhere in the world, have increased beyond the fondest dreams of men a few years ago.

Bank resources are immense. Building and Loan assets are more than three times what they were ten years ago.

Automobile sales have mounted to undreamed of heights. And 95 per cent of the automobiles owned in the world are in the United States. In seven years the number of automobiles used in the United States has tripled.

The greatest railway day in the history of the world was in September, 1920. Capacity use of the car facilities of our great lines are not sufficient to meet the transportation demands.

The promise for 1927 is much greater than was the promise a year ago for 1926.

Nowhere in the world—save in isolated spots like Australia—is there, for the average man, employer or employee—anything approaching the conditions of life in the United States.

This is not wholly due to our great resources or the capabilities of our people. Others can duplicate us in the necessary production qualities. To protect ourselves, in our growing days, we have erected barriers that have enabled us to create the wonderful life we have on this continent.

And a fundamental feature of this system is the protective tariff we have created, giving our industry, and our workmen just that margin of protection that eliminated the differences of production in European and Oriental countries and enables us to go ahead.

To sweep away these barriers now would be to throw every American business and workman open to the free competition of the world, with the vastly different conditions that prevail in other countries.

This result would be inevitable.

Every time we have done so, industrial chaos has ensued. Millions of our workmen have walked the streets unemployed. Soup houses have furnished the only relief and life itself to many of these millions. Factories have everywhere been closed. The cheaper imports of Europe have poured in, but there has been no money to buy. American workmen must be employed at American wage standards, American industries must be maintained on American standards, if our prosperity is to be maintained.

THE LEADERS of the Democratic party in the nation pledge their party, and their nominees for Senate and House in Ohio and elsewhere, to the restoration of the Underwood-Simmons or a similar tariff, if the next Congress is controlled by the Democratic party.

The war over, “war babies” were no longer the products of industry, and we slid quickly back to the 1913-1914 conditions.

In 1919-20, once again millions of men walked our streets. January, 1921, was a “blue day” in Ohio and throughout the nation.

But with the enactment of the emergency tariff, and the later enactment of the present tariff—both strenuously opposed by the then Democratic

OHIO HAS HAD ONE EXPERIENCE WITH THE UNDERWOOD-SIMMONS TARIFF.

It was enacted October 3, 1913, and was in force up to the beginning of the war. The then Democratic Senator from Ohio—who is now the candidate for reelection in Ohio—voted for every low duty schedule this tariff contained.

HERE ARE OHIO RESULTS as gleaned from the Ohio State Journal, the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and the Cincinnati Enquirer of the times:

- 1913
November—Leetonia Steel Company, Leetonia, Ohio, went bankrupt.
November—Commercial Travelers report German cutlery crowding out American goods.
November—The Iron Trade Review of Cleveland “Seldom has the trade seen such stagnation as exists in pig iron markets.”
November—Cincinnati Associated Charities reported a 30% increase in destitution over November, 1912.
November—Mahoning Valley Tin Plate started down grade.
December 24—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune published article showing that the clothing trade was severely feeling the effects of the tariff.
December 25—Christmas Day 7,000 men out of work in Columbus.
December 26—New York Sun said machinery and tool manufacturers in Ohio were “Almost paralyzed” by the Underwood Tariff.
December 28—The Columbus Iron & Sheet Company went on half time; Buckeye Steel Casting Company—only 600 were working out of a full force of 3,000.
One Columbus furnace out of six was running.

- 1914
January 20—Continental Sugar Company at Fremont was ordered closed.
February 14—Youngstown Bar Works cut employees 50 per cent.
March 2—8,000 men out of work in Columbus.
April—Youngstown wage reduction reported.
May 1—Foundries at Cincinnati began half time.
May 4—Hundreds of men lost jobs at La Belle Iron Works at Steubenville.
May 4—2,000 men thrown out of Aetna Mills, Martins Ferry.
May—Cleveland issued $100,000 bonds to care for the unemployed.
June 15—Central Labor Union, Akron, reported that very recently 1,600 men were laid off in the rubber plants.
June—In Newark 1,600 men out of work.
July—Perry County potteries all closed except two. 600 earthenware of surplus products on hand.
July—In Zanesville, factories employed only 60% of their usual number of men and those for only four days a week.
July—Wages in Steubenville and throughout the county were from $1.50 to $1.75 for a 9 or 10 hour day.
July—Cleveland City Labor Exchange estimated that at one time between the passage of the Underwood Tariff and the beginning of the war, there were 61,000 men out of employment in Cleveland alone. There were 27 applicants for every job the Labor Exchange listed.

Senator from Ohio—by January, 1922, these conditions were largely remedied and our factories again in almost full production employment.

WIPE OUT THE TARIFF, AS IS PLEDGED BY THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC LEADERS, AND YOU WIPE OUT THE INDUSTRIAL PROSPERITY OF OHIO, ONE OF THE GREATEST INDUSTRIAL CENTERS IN THE WORLD.

Senator Pomerene’s Record on the Tariff
---Almost 400 Low Tariff Votes

DOCUMENT 556, 63rd Congress, Second Session, gives votes on the Underwood-Simmons Tariff Bill, which opened soup houses in every industrial city in Ohio. An examination of the record in this pamphlet shows that Senator Pomerene voted with but two exceptions for the low duties reported by the committee, made up largely of southerners, headed by Senator Simmons. He never voted once in favor of an amendment to increase any Ohio duties, although there were a large number of amendments offered proposing to increase the rates reported by the Committee.

Document 264, 67th Congress, Second Session, gives the Yea and Nay vote on the Fordney-McCumber Tariff Bill. An examination of the roll calls shows that Senator Pomerene was absent or paired 103 times. He voted 171 times. Every time he voted for the lowering of proposed duties—never once was he able to see his way clear to vote for an increase, no matter what duty was proposed.

In between these two Tariff Bills, there was passed the Emergency Tariff Bill. The record shows Senator Pomerene was for every lower duty proposed in connection with that bill. He voted, of course, against the Fordney-McCumber Bill and the Emergency Tariff Bill.

The record shows that he voted, also, against the Taxation Bill of 1921, under which the first large reduction in taxes was made by the Harding Administration. This, of course, was the only tax reduction upon which he had a chance to vote.

DOES OHIO GO AHEAD OR BACKWARD?

Because of our belief that the return of Senator Willis, who stands always staunchly for the protection of American industries and American standards of living, is absolutely essential to the continuance of the present conditions of unparalleled prosperity, this advertisement is inserted by business men of Ohio to call attention of our fellow citizens to the critical situation that exists, so far as our representation is concerned.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE—BERT J. SHELTON, CHAIRMAN.

COOPER TO PRESENT HIS VIEWS ON GOVERNMENT

No Other Addresses Scheduled at Republican Rally Here Monday Night

According to present arrangements, Myers Y. Cooper of Cincinnati, candidate for governor, will hold the center of the stage at the Republican rally to be held in Marion, Monday night, with no other speech-making to take up time and prevent him from presenting a thorough discussion of his candidacy and his views on state government. There will be a brief introductory speech and possibly a few remarks by other candidates, but no lengthy addresses to interfere with the Cooper address.

The meeting will start promptly at 7:30 o'clock in the Star auditorium, preceded by a band concert on the street. Orchestra music and singing of campaign and patriotic numbers to be led by Anna Queen will be additional features of the program.

Personal Request

That the Marion meeting, which will bring Mr. Cooper here for his closing speech of the campaign, was arranged in response to his personal request, is revealed through information coming today from party leaders. The schedule of addresses outlined for him by the State Executive Committee will close Saturday night, and it was thought that Mr. Cooper would then return to his home to obtain needed rest after his several weeks of continuous campaigning. His determination to carry on the fight up until the final moment and to address people of Marion County before election day resulted in plans for the meeting here.

In arranging the original campaign schedule, Mr. Cooper was looked for a speech here on Oct. 9 but this arrangement was cancelled as a result of the Democrats having planned to bring Alton Pomeroy here to address a meeting the same week. At that time Mr. Cooper informed Republican organization leaders that he would come to Marion later in the campaign if a date could possibly be fixed.

COLORED WOMAN HELD IN SHOOTING IS RELEASED

Dismissed When Officials Decide There Are No Charges Against Her

Mrs. Ruth Wilson, 22, held for investigation following the shooting of Henry Johnson, 25, in a pool-room on Hocking-st., Tuesday night, was released from the county jail Thursday afternoon when Mayor Earl M. Hazen and police officials decided that there were no charges on which she could be detained. Rivalry over the affections of Mrs. Wilson is said to have been the cause of an affray which resulted in Richard McKinney, 28, shooting Johnson, who is now at the jail. McKinney was released by an order of the court on a charge of shooting with intent to kill and is now a prisoner at the County Jail. It is said, will recover.

McKinney and Mrs. Wilson were arrested at the Hocking Hotel, where they were engaged by McKinney at 1:34 o'clock. The arrests coming about an hour before the shooting. Liquor was found at the hotel and as a consequence, McKinney was also accused of violating the prohibition law and fined $500.

All of the parties involved are colored and the shooting occurred in the West Side district that is populated largely by negroes.

STUDIES BEHIND BARS
The Marion, Oct. 29.—Loren Taylor, a school student, nearly 20, is serving a jail term for the past week because he pleaded guilty to the shooting of Roy Taylor, a flight of shots. He was sentenced for assault and battery.

SENATOR REED TURNS INQUIRY OVER TO PEOPLE

Missouri Solon Brings His Indiana Investigation to Close at St. Louis

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 29.—With the passage of the next senate possible, the balance, Senator James A. Reed of Missouri today turned his senatorial "house" over to the American people for a verdict.

After revealing an ocean of slush in Indiana and a $1,000,000 primary in the Reed inquiry closed here with a final picture of the Ku Klux Klan's tremendous political activity and its right relation to the candidacy of Senator James L. Watson in Indiana.

Declines to Forecast

The Missourian declined to forecast the result of the senate investigations from the elections Tuesday. His friends, however, pointed out that Reed's inquiries involved three states where four senators will be elected, led to investigations in Washington and Oregon, while provoking slush charges in Connecticut, Oklahoma, Ohio and Arizona and that the investigations might easily determine which party wins control of the next senate.

Throughout the middle West, at least, the Indiana race will be watched the closest because of the testimony involving Watson and Robinson in activities of the Klan. Both Senators have wired Reed formally denying any connection with the Klan, but the record of the Hoosier inquiry reveals sworn testimony declaring both as members.

The record passed over Robinson rightly but fell heavily upon Watson. The senior Indiana senator was declared to have been the Klan's candidate for vice president in 1924 because of a deal revolving around the assistance he extended the hooded order in helping out Senator Earl B. Mayfield, a Texas Democrat and klanman.

Tells of Card

Then came William M. Rogers, of Indianapolis, a former Klan organizer who swore he saw Watson in possession of a membership card in the imperial Klan of the invisible empire. He said he showed his own card in the same imperial Klan to the Indiana senator and Watson produced a similar card, saying:

"I have one, too."

In this secret inner shrine of the Klan, Rogers said, only high political personages or Klan officials were admitted because their oath really made them a "citizen of the invisible empire" instead of a klanman. With such an oath, he pointed out, the member could technically deny being a klanman.

May Reopen Hearings

Watson's denial of this membership and his declaration that he didn't even remember meeting Rogers will be put in the record of the hearings by Reed. Rogers, however, hearing of Watson's denial, merely reiterated his first statement and added that he had "known" the senator for 10 years.

In closing the hearings, Reed hinted that they might desire more information later on some of the charges made before the slush committee. While he went into no details, it was apparent Reed meant the political activities of William F. Zumburn, of the Klan's general council. A half dozen witnesses told Reed that Zumburn was the political boss of the Klan and had a tremendous influence over the senate and was active in seating and unseating senators.

Pimples

What can I do?

"O H. why can't I have a skin like other girls? Why do I have to have these ugly pimples, blotches and blackheads?"

"If I could only find something that would clear up my skin and give me back my soft, rosy complexion, I know I would be the happiest girl in the world! What can I do?"

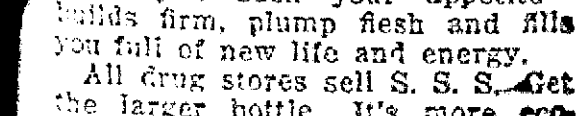

Is that you talking? If it is, you don't have to worry a minute! Just build up the rich, red blood in your body. Then your skin will be as clear and soft as anybody's.

That's what S. S. S. has been doing for generations—helping Nature build rich red blood! You can build red blood cells so fast that the impurities that cause breaking out on the skin hardly get into the system before the pure blood annihilates them—kills them right out—stops them from breaking out through the skin.

And then this rich, red, pure blood feeds and nourishes the tissues of the skin and keeps it looking healthy.

That's all there is to it. Healthy, vigorous red blood such as S. S. S. helps Nature build, makes you healthy all over. It beautifies your skin—drives away pimples, blackheads, blotches, rashes and eczema—gives you back your appetite—builds firm, plump flesh and fills you full of new life and energy.

All drug stores sell S. S. S. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

REMORSE IS BLAMED FOR SANDUSKY MAN'S SUICIDE

Suffering from Hallucination He Believes He Clubbed Wife to Death

Sandusky, Oct. 29.—Remorse, created by the belief that he had clubbed his wife to death, is attributed by police here as the motive for the suicide of Walter H. Arnold, who died in a hospital as the result of carbolic acid poisoning.

Arnold and his wife, Frances, 25, with their two-month-old child, visited neighbors Wednesday night. Later they retired in the same room of their home.

Early this morning Mrs. Arnold was awakened when her husband, apparently suffering from hallucinations, began beating her on the head with a flashlight which he had taken from beneath his pillow.

She ran, screaming to a neighbor of whom she asked aid. A few minutes later, Arnold followed her, carrying the baby. He handed the infant to Mrs. Arnold, whispered:

"I'm sorry," and fell unconscious, dying later from the effects of the poison.

Police say Arnold had been an interested reader of the events surrounding the Toledo clubber's activities.

Who Is Going Housekeeping?

You will have to "live" with the furniture you buy. It costs too much to throw out if you don't like it a few weeks after you have it in your home. Furniture bought wrong—bought without good advice from some one who doesn't take an interest with you in planning and furnishing your new home—that kind of furniture often becomes an "eyesore." You become disgusted with it and with the store that sold it to you. PLAY SAFE!

POLICE BELIEVE DOG THEFT IS NOW ENDED

Two Enter Pleas of Guilty When Arraigned Before Justice

Kenton, Oct. 29.—With the arrest here yesterday of two men charged with stealing valuable dogs belonging to Pearl Williams and Roy Handebeck, a considerable number of dogs have been put on the streets of Kenton and the police believe that the dog thefts reported in and near Kenton during the past few weeks have ended.

The two men, Wilson Caldwell of near Kenton, and Charles Caldwell of Caldwell, Ohio, entered pleas of guilty to the dog theft charges when arraigned before Perry T. Shellhouse, justice of the peace, but were released when settlement was effected and the charges withdrawn. They were taken to the county jail.

The two dogs, valued at more than $200, were taken from the homes of their owners last Saturday night and shipped to Caldwell where they were being held for disposal, officers said. A third brother, Tip Caldwell, escaped the officers when the arrests were made.

Another dog and a pet cat stolen from Hardin county people during the past several days, were also recovered in Caldwell. According to the sheriff at Caldwell, Charles had disposed of many dogs and it was believed that a dog stealing ring had been broken up.

CALEDONIA SOCIETY MEETS YESTERDAY

Mrs. E. J. Stanley and Mrs. A. M. Kinnaman Hostesses To Group

Caledonia, Oct. 29.—Mrs. E. J. Stanley and Mrs. A. M. Kinnaman were hostesses to the Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Church, yesterday afternoon at the home of the former.

The meeting was opened by singing "I Need the Every Hour". The prayer was read by Mrs. Stanley. Mrs. Kinnaman was in charge of the meeting and read a part of the 20th chapter of Isaiah and offered prayer which was followed by the society repeating the Lord's prayer.

The roll was called by the secretary, Mrs. Clara Harrison, with twenty-two members responding. A number of bills were ordered paid, one of which was the third payment of a pledge the society has made to St. Luke's Hospital, Cleveland.

Partial plans were made for the annual Thanksgiving chicken supper to be served at the church basement Saturday, Nov. 20th. Several guests were present including Mesdames Harrison, Kinnaman and Lock of Caledonia; Mrs. P. F. Fancher, Mrs. Alice Thayer, Harry Johnson and his wife, Mrs. Carrie Pace, Mrs. Irene Hummer and Miss Florence Hummer.

The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Charles Higley Thursday, Nov. 18th, one week earlier than the regular date. A nice luncheon was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Clouse and Mrs. Johnson.

MT. GILEAD TEACHERS HONOR SUPERINTENDENT

Bouquet of Roses Presented P. E. Arnold; New Instructors Welcomed

Mt. Gilead, Oct. 29.—The faculties of the Mt. Gilead schools gathered in the Senior High school auditorium last evening, the occasion having a dual significance. It was a reception for the new teachers who have joined the force this year and also a surprise for Supt. P. E. Arnold. The teachers had all gathered in the auditorium when Supt. Arnold arrived.

G. S. Hildebrand, principal of the Junior High school presented Supt. Arnold with a bouquet of roses. Mr. Arnold responded in an appropriate manner.

John Howard Gongwer, principal of the Senior High school gave the welcome to the new teachers and Supt. Arnold. Gladys Garber, daughter of Supt. Arnold, read "Encouragement" and "The Mourning Veil".

The evening was spent at contests and games. Refreshments were served to the committee.

WYANDOT HIGH CLASSES ENJOY HALLOWEEN PARTY

Wyandot, Oct. 29.—Miss Ruth Neiderhiser of Wyandot entertained the members of the Freshman and Sophomore classes of Wyandot High school Tuesday night at a Halloween party.

Those present were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Neiderhiser and sons, Stanley, Gale and Robert, Mabel Barton, Hylas Jury, Roma Jury, Dorothy Hite, Virgie Foreman, Mildred Jury, Gladys Carr, Ada Lust, Dorning Swinehart, Nanna Karcher and Virginia Carr and Messrs. Joseph McCoppin, Rollic Hite, Robert Althouse, Noel Foreman, Nelson Karcher, William Carr, Phillip Merwin, Mr. Schumaker and Homer Steinmetz.

The guests arrived masked and their names were guessed and they were called on to unmask.

Games and contests were enjoyed and a fine program was given during the business session which was in charge of Mabel Barton, president of the Freshman and Sophomore classes.

Wine and sandwiches, pickles, pumpkin pie, marshmallows and coffee were served by the hostess and her mother.

Criticisms, Suggestions Contained in Legislative Committee's Report on Reformatory at Marysville

Two Solutions Offered for Relief of Present Situation at Penal Institution

Marysville, Oct. 29.—The Legislative Committee of Ohio has issued its report of its survey of the Women's Reformatory, near Marysville, together with a report of other penal institutions of the state.

The report gives a complete history of the institution, also a general survey of the different types of prisoners as to mentality, education, vocation, before sentenced to the institution and paroleage.

A complete account of the work carried on at the institution is given, which shows that only a small percentage of their time is taken up.

The committee also suggested a great number of changes which would reduce operating expenses at the institution to a lower level. Various criticisms were also made as to conditions in housing the inmates. Following are some of the recommendations made.

On the present 250 acres of which 200 are tillable, it is suggested that there be a vast extension of activities, especially in the dairy and livestock departments.

The institution at present has a fine dairy herd and obtains a large portion of its meat supply from its poultry and rabbits. Gardening is also carried on to some extent.

Much criticism was made in regard to the housing and classification of the inmates. To overcome the present overcrowded conditions are remedied. The opening of the new cottages will not properly solve the problem as it provides room only for 100 prisoners.

Two solutions are offered by the committee. The state can purchase additional acreage and construct more buildings to care for the increasing population.

Another solution would be to minimize the existing institution at its present size and build one or more additional institutions in other localities. If this be done, the committee suggests that only the worst offenders be committed to the Marysville institution.

The other institutions which would be of a less costly type be provided to take care of women misdemeanants.

The report states that there should be in addition to regular graded school work, organized classes in domestic science, dietetics and similar subjects. An educational building recently completed is being used as a dormitory. Other educational facilities at the school are meagre, and no school is provided for teaching the common school subjects.

There are some books at the institution and library service is provided twice each week.

Inmates doing outside work are allowed 15¢ a day; those in household maintenance 6¢; and those in day classes 5¢ a day. The amount is placed to the credit of the women and is paid at their discharge. Those on the honor list are placed in homes throughout Union County for domestic work.

RADNOR SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS HOLDS MEETING

Radnor, Oct. 29.—The Margaret Price Sunday School Class of the Congregational Church was entertained Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones. Mrs. Jones was assisted by Mrs. C. S. Connaire and Mrs. George L. Pugh.

The meeting opened with a song and the secretary's report. A chapter of the study book "Women of the Bible" was read by Mrs. D. H. Thomas. The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Margaret Watkins; secretary, Mrs. Edith Price; treasurer, Mrs. D. H. Thomas; flower committee, Mrs. John Connaire and Mrs. C. S. Connaire. Thursts were: Mrs. George Peters, Mrs. Evan Jones, Misses Mary Quillen and Mattie Jones.

GONGWER TALKS AT MEETING OF KIWANIS CLUB

State Senator Hopley and W. F. Black, Mansfield, Also on Program

Mt. Gilead, Oct. 29.—John Howard Gongwer, principal of Mt. Gilead High School, was the speaker at the weekly Kiwanis luncheon at the Globe Hotel yesterday. District Governor W. F. Black, of Mansfield, and State Senator James F. Hopley, Republican candidate for congress from this district, were also present and spoke briefly.

"The Importance of Local Self Government" was the theme of Mr. Gongwer's talk. The decline of American citizenship was discussed and the lack of interest of people in political and civic affairs.

"The result of the present tendency to centralize our political functions has resulted in a diminution of the interest of people in the affairs of government. This is evidenced by the fact that at every election, officials are chosen by a minority of the people," declared the speaker.

The speaker paid tribute to the valuable contribution to civic and community life of the service clubs of the country and complimented the local club upon its interest in civic betterment.

Hopley Talks
State Senator Hopley expressed his pleasure at meeting with the club and complimented the men of the service clubs upon their leadership in community improvement and thinking. He urged upon the members the importance of voting at the coming election.

Mr. Hopley stated that the future security of American liberty was assured if citizens would safeguard it at the polls at the annual elections.

The club was complimented upon its interest, its attendance and its definite program by Attorney Black, district governor. He stated that he had visited all the clubs in the district and found them in a flourishing condition. Governor Black stated that one of the definite objectives of Kiwanis this year was to encourage citizens to exercise their right to franchise and urged upon the local club the importance of this goal.

Club singing was led by E. B. Wilson, with Governor Black at the piano.

TO HOLD MASQUERADE AT YORK SCHOOL TONIGHT

Student Body Arranging for Lyceum Course During Winter Months

Marysville, Oct. 29.—A masquerade party will be staged by the pupils and faculty of York High school, Friday evening in the school ball. Prizes will be awarded to those wearing the most clever costumes and various booths will be established. A fine program has also been arranged. All proceeds from the affair will be turned over to the athletic fund and will later be used for the purchase of new basketball equipment.

It is also planned by the student body of this school to furnish the community with entertainment this winter in the form of a lyceum course. The same will consist of four numbers, one of which will feature a reading by a prominent humorist and the other three will consist of musical entertainment by popular entertainers. Tickets have been placed on sale by the students. Profit derived from the course will be turned over to the school treasury.

Mrs. Emerson Roberts of Carothers is division president and was chairman of the sessions.

Mrs. Helen Ammerman home on her second furlough from missionary work in China gave a review of her fourteen years abroad. Miss Ella Keller of Bucyrus, Mrs. S. C. Hurr of Marion and Mrs. Anna L. Miller of Canton were the principal speakers on the program. The Bucyrus society served a luncheon during the noon recess.

GALION WOMEN RETURN FROM FEDERATION MEET

Delegation of 18 Is Second Largest Attending Two-day Session

Galion, Oct. 29.—Eighteen Galien clubwomen, representatives of the Federation of Clubs, returned home yesterday from attending a two-day session of the middle north district convention of the federation at Mansfield. Galien ranked second in number of delegates present.

A series of dinner parties, luncheons and receptions were given in the guests' honor at Mansfield and various reports, lectures and programs increased interest in effective club work.

Two of the most inspiring of the talks given by well known Ohio women were features of the Thursday program. Mrs. Edith McClure Patterson spoke on "Buying Happiness" and Mrs. S. Mardock, dean of girls at West High of Akron, gave some interesting details of her work.

The closing event was the lovely afternoon tea which all representatives enjoyed at the Mansfield club house.

SERVICES FOR PFEIFER TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Remains to Be Brought to Galion for Final Rites

Funeral services for the late Walter J. Pfeifer will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the First Baptist church of this city with Rev. J. L. Porter in charge. Friends of the family will be attended by members of the college and Ashland academy. Burial will be made in Fairview cemetery.

The announcement of his death yesterday was a blow to the city that has been so interested in his work.

Walter J. Pfeifer was born in 1896, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Pfeifer. He attended the public schools of this city and was graduated from Ashland high school in 1917. While a student at Galion high school he was known for his exceptional ability in every sport. He was captain of both the basketball and football teams in his senior year and the president of his class. During the four years he spent in the local high school he was awarded nine athletic letters the most that has ever been given to any one man. After his graduation he served for service in the World War and served for one year as a naval aviator.

Later, he attended Baldwin Wallace college where he specialized in physical education. In 1920, he was captain of the football team of the college and one of the most popular men on the campus.

In the fall of 1921, "Wag" began his work as athletic director in Galion high school and held that position for four successful years. During that time two of his teams won the championship of the N. C. O. L. and one year tied for the honor. Last year he coached at Bucyrus and there again developed a championship team. In September of this year he took up his work as coach at Ashland college where he was making unusual progress with the team when he became ill. He resigned at once but the college board would not accept the resignation.

During his illness the members of his team were with him every day and he constantly encouraged and advised them. Coach Pfeifer was a man of high ideals and character an example for every player whom he coached.

On May 10, 1924, he married Miss Evelyn Quire of this city. Besides his widow he is survived by his mother, two brothers, Otto, of Galion; Paul and William of Cleveland, and two sisters, Mrs. W. B. Maynard of Olmstead Falls, and Miss Asta Pfeifer of this city.

He was a member of both the Elks and Masonic lodges and of Siena Valley fraternity of Baldwin Wallace College.

ANNUAL PARTY

They were awarded for holding high score. At six o'clock a lovely dinner was served, which climaxed the pleasant affair.

BURNS CAUSE WOMAN'S DEATH AT MT. GILEAD

Explosion Occurs When Kerosene Is Poured on Live Coals

Mt. Gilead, Oct. 29—Mrs. Wilma Haghorn, aged 26 years, who lives on the farm town on the New road, died yesterday afternoon at her home, as a result of burns received. Wednesday night from an explosion when she poured kerosene upon live coals.

It seems that she wished to revive a apparently dead fire and thought to expedite the operation with the kerosene. An explosion followed and she was a mass of flames. Her clothing was burned from her body, and her entire body was badly burned, even charred in places.

The Mt. Gilead physicians were all summoned. Drs. Bennett and Jackson were the first to arrive and provided all relief possible to alleviate the suffering. Her condition was at once recognized as almost hopeless, and her fight against death had begun.

Burial will take place at Richmond.

PLANT JUICE JUST DROVE POISON FROM MY SYSTEM

Canton, O., Woman Says This Medicine Is Best She Ever Tried During 20 Years Of Suffering.

"Dillingham's Plant Juice is the most wonderful medicine I've ever used and that is saying a great deal for during the past 20 years I've tried practically everything on the market," said Mrs. W. H. Clark, 1519 Frederick Ave., S. W., Canton, Ohio.

"Had I not used Plant Juice a year ago, I feel sure I'd be suffering like I always had with stomach trouble, rheumatism, constipation, bilious attacks and nervousness. But this medicine just drove all the poison from my system, as I haven't a trace of rheumatism left."

"I'm not troubled with indigestion any more and the constipation and nervousness have disappeared. In fact, my whole system is in splendid condition and active all that are afflicted with any of the ailments I had to get Plant Juice."

Plant Juice is sold in Marion by Bradley's Drug Store and by all leading druggists everywhere. Adv.

Jones Likely to Use His "Defensive Back" System Rest of This Season

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 29.—The Harvard football team, which has been playing a "defensive back" system, is expected to continue this system for the remainder of the season. The Harvard team, which is coached by Coach Jones, has been playing a "defensive back" system since the beginning of the season. This system is based on the idea of having a strong defensive back field, which is able to stop the opponent's offense. The Harvard team has been very successful in this system, and it is expected that they will continue to use it for the rest of the season.

Fast Basketball Aggregations to Appear Against Isalys

Local Professionals Hold Regular Practice Session in Preparation for Season

Games Being Sought with Cleveland Rosenblums, Washington Palace Club, Kenton Reds, Lorain Lions and Ohio Conference Teams; Dairy Bunch To Have Strong Line-Up

MARION'S cage enthusiasts are to be given the opportunity this winter of seeing some of the best basketball teams in the country in action at The Star Auditorium. This is indicated in the tentative schedule which the local Isaly Dairies have arranged for the coming winter season. A majority of the games will be played at home, a custom that has been followed for several years.

An indication of what fans may expect the Dairies are scheduling games with teams in the American League including the Cleveland Rosenblums, Washington Palace Club, Brooklyn, Detroit American Legion and the Columbus Kinnear.

The tilt with the Columbus Kinnear, an organization which is also playing at the Kenton Reds this year, will be one of the first games of the season. The exact date has not been set.

Games have also been scheduled with the Lorain Lions and Akron Good years and negotiations are under way to bring three Ohio College Conference teams to this city. Ohio Wesleyan, Otterbein, Ohio Northern, Kenton and Ohio University teams are being dickered with for local matches.

PERFECTLY GOOD "ASSISTANT" NOW ON THE MARKET

FRED CLARKE

Fred Clarke, who managed the Pittsburgh Pirates to four pennants and acted as "vice president" in last year's hectic campaign, has announced that he sees "no position on the club that would warrant my staying." Clarke was named primarily to assist McKelvie on the bench. The dual control system wrecked the morale of the club. Clarke may land another managerial berth before the winter's on and over.

COACHES AGAINST BAN ON FOOTBALL SCOUTING

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 29.—Michigan coaches do not look with favor on the move in the east to abolish scouting of football games.

"Ed" Wagon, a student director of intercollegiate athletics, declared today that he saw little need for ending the scouting arrangement in the western conference.

"In the big Ten the coaches expect scouts at their games and send tickets to the various schools who request them. Scouts are treated much like visiting professors and everything is open and above board."

"Scouting has done much to eliminate the self appointed alumni scouts and has actually built up a strong bond of friendship between the universities," he said.

Winning the game against Oklahoma and remaining undefeated, Kansas State Agricultural College ranks with University of Missouri, title defender, as an aspirant of the Missouri Valley Conference football championship.

ANTHONY FIVE AND HUBER TEAM WIN AT Y. M. C. A.

Both Make Clean Sweeps of Three-Game Matches

Anthony Laundry and Huber Manufacturing Co. won three games each last night in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial League Bowling matches.

Anthony's had little trouble in taking three consecutive games from the Pennsy & Hooking Valley Railroad team. All games were won by a large margin with the total majority for the three game match being 300 points. The Huber Manufacturing Co. duplicated the feat of Anthony's, when they walloped the Marion County Lumber Co. in three consecutive games. Huber's team's score for the match showed a 305 point margin over the lumber company.

Dripps led the Anthony Laundry crew in its games with the P. R. R. & H. V. while Welsh was high man for the railroads. Dripps scored 123 in one game and Welsh scored 139 points.

Peters was high man for the Huber team, receiving 193 points in one game. Morgan led the Marion County Lumber Co. with 171 points.

The Conoverwith, the first of the two great autumn handbills run over the historic course at Newmarket, has been the scene of that exceedingly rare event, a triple dead heat. This occurred as at back in 1857, and has never happened since in any prominent race.

OHIO STATE IS FAVORITE OVER CHICAGO ELEVEN

Traditional Rivalry Will Enhance Grid Programs in Midwest

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Traditional and intercollegiate rivalry will enhance tomorrow's grid competition in the mid-west, where conference teams attract attention to three centers.

A fourth important game involving a Big Ten representative will be played in the East where Michigan and the Navy take up the matter of each other's defensive records.

Intercollegiate alone makes the Illinois-Pennsylvania game at Urbana a contest of national consequence, but the game is certain to be effected in no small measure by the buckering encountered through the easterners' use of flooding offense. Zuppke's alleged denunciation of Pennsylvania's hidden ball play and Lou Young's willingness to punt his team's elbow pads pink and put lace around them has created a stir of considerable box office importance around here and many are going to Chicago to see what they can see in spite of the poses passed back and forth by the rival mentors in the eleven-hour, yellow-pink or white footballs, the customers should wait, but we said as much last year about this game.

Outstanding Game

Minnesota and Wisconsin will provide the outstanding conference game of the day at Madison, the outcome of which will have a strong bearing on the Big Ten title.

Here, Ohio State and the Maroons will be headlines only inasmuch as the game will be Chicago's only game of the day. Ohio should win and probably will.

Wisconsin will find a salty dish in the husky Gopher team and when these two kick off it will be a survival of the fittest. Both have huge, powerful lines and not much of an open attack. You can pick your own winner here, and expect no odds.

Michigan will take a well rounded aggregation to Baltimore, where it is certain to meet more opposition than it did last year on the occasion of its overwhelming victory at Ann Arbor. "Navy Bill" Ingraham knows Yost's style and will have some conference tricks of his own to display. The Wolverines,

Moeller Singing "Blues" as Harding-Bucyrus Tilt Nears; Team Victim of Jinx, Claim

Bucktown Coach Says His Warriors Should Win According to Omen, but Expects Defeat Because of Unlucky Omen; Marion Victorious Three Years

Coach Moeller of the Bucyrus High football warriors is pessimistic in his prediction of the outcome of the Harding-Bucyrus battle on the Crawford County held Saturday.

"We are up against a jinx," Coach Moeller said. "According to all the 'jinx' in black and white we should defeat Harding but we are the victims of a jinx whenever we face the Marion eleven."

Harding High has defeated Bucyrus three times in the last three years, downing them in every fray on the gridiron during that period. On two occasions, Coach Moeller said, he should have defeated Harding but the jinx has continued through the last three seasons.

Coach Moeller was interviewed yesterday in the club house on the North Street held at Bucyrus, the club rooms being decorated with signs labeled "Stop Moeller," "Stop Bucyrus," "Beat Harding," and other banners silently crying for the scalp of the Marion lads.

Coach Paul Spout of the Harding High gridlers, has had little to say on the game Saturday but has been putting his men through stiff workouts every night this week in preparation for the big tilt.

Tradition calls for a Harding victory, however, apparently hold a slight advantage.

ONE SWALLOW ENDS SORE THROAT

Northwestern-Indiana
Northwestern, beaten and educated by Notre Dame last week, will engage what appears to be a much out-classed Indiana team in its second game of the season at Bloomington. Purdue and Iowa have "brothers" in Indiana Normal and Carroll.

Georgia Tech makes its annual appearance at South Bend against Notre Dame in another intercollegiate game and as is generally the case, the southerners show up a bit unqualified for the task, in spite of a victory over Tulane. Tech, however, is always fighting mad, like Northwestern, against the Irish and will garner credit unto itself before the game's won.

Great Intersectional Games Are Expected Saturday When Representative Teams Meet

THREE OF FOUR SECTIONS WILL BE EMBROILED

Middle West Massing Real Strength for First Time

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
New York, Oct. 29.—Collegiate football will make itself tomorrow to an intersectional showdown, a meeting of teams from representative of their respective districts for the first time this season.
The returns should determine to a large degree the mutual satisfaction of the better football is being played this year in the east, the middle west or the south. So far, the East has been division on points, but it has been strong on soft ones, for the most part, and Michigan, Illinois and Missouri are soft like hardtack.
The middle west, thus, is massing its strength for the first time and is satisfying to know that the east is leading three of its unbeaten teams out to take issue with the rival section. The latter also will toss a fourth leader, Notre Dame, into the intersectional pit with one of the southland's best, Georgia Tech.
In consequence, three of the four great sections will be embroiled, the east alone remaining aloof. The boys out that way will indulge in a strictly private fight, what with the great meeting between Stanford and Southern California and the lesser attractions furnished by California and Oregon and Oregon Aggies and Idaho.
Navy-Michigan
The Navy-Michigan affair at Baltimore probably will carry the greatest import east of the Mississippi, although plenty of people will want to know whether Pennsylvania can kick

LEAGUE HEADS ADJOURN MEET UNTIL NEXT WEEK

No Definite Action Taken at Session Held Last Night

No definite plans were made or action taken in the organization of the Marion Industrial Basketball League at the meeting of the managers last night in the Star office.
Another meeting is scheduled for 7 o'clock, next Wednesday night, in the Star auditorium, at which time it is expected that the league will be organized for the coming season and will prepare its schedule.
Six managers of teams expecting to enter the Marion Industrial Basketball League this winter were present at the meeting. Among those represented were Railway Service, Osgood, Commercial, C. D. & M., Business College and Fairfield Engineers.
The first five teams were in the league last year but Fairfield Engineers failed to finish the season. The engineers will place a team on the floor this year and expects to furnish stiff competition for other contestants.
The Marion Steam Shovel Co. will not enter the association this year and another team will be chosen to fill the vacancy in the league of six quintets.
No definite action was taken last night due to the absence of managers of several teams who are expected to make a bid for a berth in the league.

HUDKINS FAVORITE OVER PHIL M'GRAW

Makes Maiden Start as Welterweight in Madison Square Garden Ring Tonight

New York, Oct. 29.—Making his maiden start as a welterweight, Ace Hudkins will enter the Garden ring tonight for his 12 round bout with Phil McGraw, a decided favorite. Hudkins is known as the Nebraska wildcat and McGraw the Detroit forest, but the truth of the matter is that neither is a horsey sportsman.
They fought a savage match at the Coney Island Stadium last summer, the Ace being returned the winner only because he poked a meaner punch. McGraw was right there with him all the way.

6 DEPARTMENTS ENTER TEAMS IN SHOVEL LEAGUE

Managers Hold Meeting Last Night; To Play in Gymnasium

Teams from six departments of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. will compose an association designated as the National Basketball League.
This decision was reached last night when managers of the various departments met for the purpose of organizing the new league.
All games will be played in the new Steam Shovel gymnasium which is expected to be completed by Nov. 15. The season will open Dec. 6, three rounds will be played and the series will come to a close March 21, according to plans completed last night.
Two games will be played Monday night of each week and one game is scheduled for each Tuesday night. Games will start at 7:30.
Each department may carry a squad of eight men. Prior to Jan. 1, 1930, one each department quarter must come only from the territory covered by each department. After Jan. 1, all territories are open to managers of the teams.
Teams entered in the National Basketball League and managers of the squads are:
Directors, composed of departments 19, 20, and 20A, J. E. Jones, manager, composed of departments 16, 17, and 31, W. Johnson, manager; Ap, composed of departments 18, 19, and 20, J. E. Jones, manager; Ap, composed of departments 18, 19, and 20, J. E. Jones, manager; Ap, composed of departments 18, 19, and 20, J. E. Jones, manager.

OHIO WESLEYAN MEETS OHIO U.

First of Series of Crucial Games Scheduled Saturday

Delaware, Oct. 29.—The first of a series of crucial games which will decide the 1929 football championship of the Buckeye Athletic Association will be staged Saturday when Ohio Wesleyan, last year's champion, will meet Ohio University, chosen as Edwards Field here.
Neither team has lost a game in the association and the winner Saturday, together with Wittenberg, will be a favorite to win the title. Ohio has won two games and lost none while Wesleyan has one victory and no defeats to its credit. Wittenberg has won its only Buckeye contest to date but the Luthicans do not play Saturday and therefore are assured of a temporary tie for first place. They will be Wesleyan's opponents here next week.
Ohio's two victories were at the expense of Denison, a preseason favorite, and Cincinnati while Wesleyan's lone win was over Miami earlier in the season.
Coach Gauthier of the Methodists for the first time this season will be able to throw his strongest combination on the field for all of his injured men have recuperated and are ready for action.
The game will be the feature of the annual Wesleyan "Dads" Day program. The contest also has been designated as a Walter Camp memorial fund gift.

REPORT FLETCHER WILL COACH NEW YORK CLUB

Three in Big Ten

New York, Oct. 29.—Reports today declared that negotiations virtually had been closed for Arthur Fletcher to become coach of the New York Giants next season.
Fletcher, recently deposed as manager of the Phillies, made his reputation as a ball player while playing shortstop with the Giants' pennant winners of 1911, 1912, 1913 and 1917.
BARE CHASES PUNTS
Des Moines, Oct. 29.—Babe Ruth Wednesday chased punts instead of flies before playing in an exhibition baseball game. Dressed in a regulation uniform, the Bambino worked out with the Drake university football squad and later played a full game of his chosen sport. The Babe finished his hard storming tour Thursday with an exhibition game at Iron Mountain, Mich.

Erie Better Bull Special Scheduled to Show Here on Quarry-st Siding Saturday

Exhibit Open to Public at Rear of Bindley Grocery Co. Plant; Train Made Up of Four Express Cars Loaded with Registered Sires

The Better Bull Special of the Erie Railroad, carrying a number of cars of registered dairy bulls, will be in Marion Saturday. The train exhibit will be open to the public on the Erie siding, Quarry-st, in the rear of the Bindley Grocery Co.

The train was in Alger yesterday, passing through Marion early today on the trip to Marion, where large crowds gathered to view the display today. The special is scheduled to leave that city late tonight or early Saturday morning.

The train is in charge of the Animal Husbandry and Dairy Department of Ohio State University, the Erie Railroad, and various state and national breed associations. The entire program and exhibit is free of charge.

The "Better Bull Special" is made up of four express cars loaded with registered dairy bulls, one car fitted up with a feeding and breeding exhibit by Ohio State University, a car for free motion pictures and lectures and a flat car for out-door pictures and lectures.

One registered dairy bull will be given away to some Marion County dairy farmer in connection with the exhibit. All bulls on the special are for sale and any dairyman or farmer wishing to make a purchase may do so.

The bulls will be placed on exhibition at 9:30 Saturday morning. At 1:30 p. m. a series of lectures and speeches on dairying and the purpose of the special train will be given. Free motion pictures will close the program, beginning at 7:30 p. m. Saturday.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

SUFFERERS FROM INDIGESTION OR STOMACH TROUBLE CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Running hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis accompanied by dangerous stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with pepper or artificial digestants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little hot water and Bismarck Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bismarck Magnesia, to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. It soaks up the harmful excess acid much as a sponge or blotting and pleasant to use, is not a laxative paper might and you, stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bismarck Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and is not at all expensive.—Adv.

MAJOR GENERAL BELL IS DEAD AT CHICAGO

Pernicious Anemia Cause of Death; Had Retired from Army in 1922

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Major Gen. George Bell, jr., who commanded the 254 division of the A. E. F. died here last night. He had been in critical condition for the last week with pernicious anemia.

General Bell was born in 1859 in Baltimore, where his father, Brig. Gen. George Bell, was commander at Ft. Mifflin. He graduated from West Point at 21.

In 1895 he was made a captain and served in the Spanish American war in the Philippine insurrection he captured Gen. Vicente Lukban, rebel leader. General Bell later was commandant of

CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

Look at tongue! Then give fruit laxative for stomach, liver, bowels

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm children and they love it

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Fig Syrup" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious, "fruity laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing." Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," then see that it is made by "The California Fig Syrup Company."

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

When we had put the burglar alarm against the door last night we got into bed and had another and extra-long sleep. When we were sure we were in bed we got up and walking around in our bare feet till we all had our slippers on.

I thought she would hear our feet making ground and would come sneaking to see what we were doing, and she would have any other time, but I was too cold. Then we got to the door and my father rapped on the door with his shoe and then I knew what he wanted to do. We made it up to the door and we made it up to the door and we made it up to the door.

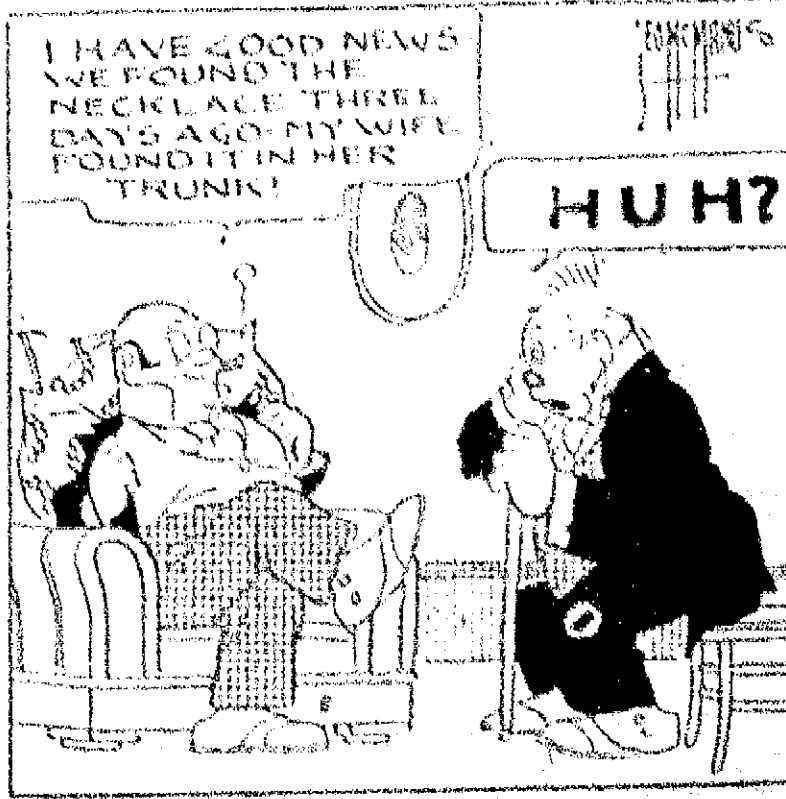

We had been asleep a long time when a light came up and that lifted up the comforter and let the cold air in and we got up and he was kinda rumbling down deep in his throat, and I put a hand on his nose and he shut up and then I heard the door knob rattle and I tried to wake Goop so he would be awake when my aunt got to the door, and just then the blank cartridge went off and then I heard the window across the hall smash, and then I jumped up, and my father was following. "What's the matter? What's the matter?" at the bottom of the stairs, and I said "I guess Aunt Nancy has told you of the window." And then he came upstairs bringing a light, and Aunt Nancy was with him and I was surprised.

There was a big tablecloth full of things on the floor by the window, and all my father's clothes and my uncle's and my grandfather's, with their watches and their money in their pockets and up in the hallway. Then my father looked out of the window and could not see anything, so he went downstairs to telephone to the police station, and they were all afraid to stay upstairs without him, so they went down I let Jubilee down, and it was a good thing. Because two policemen came and looked under all the beds and everywhere.

Me and Goop showed them the burglar alarm and they said it was slick. We pulled Jubilee up again when he had went, but the window frame was busted out and we froze the rest of the night.

SPARKY GETS A FIFTH LEG

BY RILLY DE BECK

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

"Oh, dear!" mewled Kittie Kat, the little pussy girl one day. "Oh, dear! Oh, dear!"

"What is the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily who happened to be hopping past the house where the Kat family lived. "Are you ill, Kittie?" inquired the bunny gentleman.

"No, but my doll is," answered the little animal child. "Look, how pale her cheeks are," and she held up Sawdie, one of her best dolls. Surely enough, Sawdie's cheeks were very pale, but this might have happened because she had been left out in the sun, which, as you know, bleaches, or makes white, even the clothes on the line, to say nothing of the red, wax cheeks of a doll.

"How did you come to name your doll, Sawdie?" asked Uncle Wiggily, when he had told Kittie how sorry he was for the pale cheeks. "Don't you mean her name is Sadie?"

"No, her name is Sawdie, because she is filled with sawdust," explained Kittie. "You can see some of it here, coming out," she added, holding up one of the doll's legs. Surely enough, out of a hole in it, some of the sawdust was sifting. "That's what makes her ill," went on Kittie.

"And that is why you were saying 'Oh, dear!' so often?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"Partly that and partly because I have no soft bed in which to put Sawdie to sleep," was the answer. "You see, with her sore leg, she should have a very, very soft bed, Uncle Wiggily. 'Oh, indeed she should,' agreed Mr. Longears. 'But I see you have some of your other dolls in beds,' and he pointed to Kittie's little family of play children, all sleeping.

"Those beds are too hard for Sawdie!" Kittie said. "She wants one extra soft. I was glad when I saw you coming, for I thought you could tell me a way to make a soft bed."

"How about one of feathers?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, that would be fine!" mewled the pussy girl. "But I have no feathers. I have only fur, and not very much of it comes out—especially hardly any now that winter is almost here. Where can I get some feathers?"

"Well, go ask Mrs. Chuck, the hen lady, and also Mrs. Wibblewobble, the duck lady," spoke Uncle Wiggily. But Mrs. Chuck had used all her loose, extra feathers to stuff in a bed of her own, and the duck lady had made her feathers into a cushion for her husband to sit on.

"Oh, dear!" sighed Kittie. "I'll never get a soft bed for poor, ill, feathery Sawdie!"

"Ha! Yes you will!" suddenly exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. I have just thought of something. Do you know what milkweed pods are, Kittie?"

"Yes," she purred, "they are the pods on the milkweed plant."

"Exactly!" agreed Mr. Longears.

"And the inside of each pod is filled with fluffy stuff, like cotton. It is really something that keeps the seeds warm and helps to float them like little airships to new places to grow." went on the rabbit. "But the inside of milkweed pods will make fine, soft filling for your doll's bed."

"Oh, thank you for telling me!" mewled Kittie. "I know where some milkweeds grow. I'll gather their pods, and away she ran. But when she started to push her way through the bushes to get the dried pods, something caught hold of Kittie's dress and held her fast. "Oh, I am caught by the claws of a bear!" cried the pussy girl. "There's a bear in the bushes."

"If there is I'll fix him!" growled Tommie Kat, Kittie's brave brother, who came along just then. He dashed into the bushes—where his sister was held fast and then he laughed. For he had found the bear's paw.
